Once upon a time, in a faraway land, there lived a beautiful princess named Snow White. She was the fairest in all the land, with skin as white as snow, lips as red as blood, and hair as black as ebony.

Snow White's stepmother, the Evil Queen, was consumed by jealousy of her beauty. She sent a huntsman to kill Snow White, but he could not bring himself to do it. Instead, he left her in the forest, where she was found by seven dwarfs.

The dwarfs took Snow White into their home and cared for her as if she were their own daughter. But the Evil Queen was not satisfied. She disguised herself as an old woman and tricked Snow White into eating a poisoned apple.

Snow White fell into a deep sleep, and the dwarfs were heartbroken. They placed her in a glass coffin and waited for someone to come and wake her.

One day, a handsome prince came riding through the forest. He saw Snow White in the glass coffin and was instantly smitten by her beauty. He kissed her, and she awoke from her sleep.

Snow White and the prince were married, and they lived happily ever after.

But this is not the end of the story.

In Snow White Retold, we explore the story beyond the "happily ever after." We delve into the complexities of love, the nature of beauty, and the transformative power of kindness.
